

Anne Crawford M.S. '85

Medicare Compliance Officer, Highmark, Inc.

Anne Crawford's nursing background helped her to build a career in today's corporate health care environment.

As Highmark's Medicare compliance officer, Crawford provides consultation, analytic support, and ensures compliance with federal and state regulations, CMS guidance and governing standards for all Medicare Advantage and Medicare prescription drug programs.

She established two political action committees during her career: the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association and the Pennsylvania Homecare Association. A Medicare compliance expert, Crawford has presented at several Health care Compliance Association conferences.

Crawford served as board president of Sojourner House and implemented Sojourner House MOMS, a program that provides independent housing and support services for homeless, single and dual-diagnosed women in recovery and their dependent children. For this effort, she was awarded the Jefferson Champion Award for Public Service.

Her past awards include the La Roche College Distinguished Nurse Leader Award and the Pennsylvania Nurses Association's Legislative Award.

"The human resources management program provided not only the right knowledge base, but also a forum to learn in a collegial environment to prepare and succeed in critical work place situations," Crawford said.
