

Kevin Hiles '83, CPA, CRSP

Vice President, Finance, Treasurer and Chief Financial Officer
Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh

Kevin Hiles entered La Roche College uncertain about a career and left as a successful accountant.

In 1981, Hiles was still a student when he landed his first accounting job with Penstan Supply, Inc. after meeting the company's treasurer and part-owner at a gas station. Later he went on to work for Parkvale Savings, Mellon Bank, Pitt-Des Moines Steel, Society/Key Bank and First Union. He is now vice president, finance, treasurer and chief financial officer for the Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh.

Thirty years after graduation, Hiles still credits his La Roche professors for his success, particularly the late Sister Mary Thomas Kadyszewski. "I enjoyed her a great deal," he said. "Her passion for math spilled over to her many students, myself included."

