President, CD Meyer, Inc.

For 25 years, Christopher Meyer has remained current in the ever-changing world of graphic design.

In 1988, he opened CD Meyer, Inc., a full-service multimedia development company. As president, Meyer oversees all business operations. He also acts as the creative director for various multimedia projects, including: web site development, touch screen educational kiosk programs, digital signage and video and print projects.

"I love helping clients solve problems, creating effective and well-designed messages and maintaining professional relationships," he said.

Meyer said his alma mater prepared him for both the academic and creative aspects of his professional career. "I was challenged in many ways by professors and peers," he explained. "I am grateful for their part in preparing me for the future."
